"TAH-KOO WAH-KAN; The gospel among the Dakotas" by Stephen R. Riggs (1869) included an appendix: "Dakota songs and music" by Alfred Longley Riggs (son of Stephen). Song No. 2 on page 476; translation on page 460.

Sung by the faithful maiden who makes light of terror from a rejected suitor. Translation:

Who would of such an one be afraid! Be afraid, indeed!

Who would of such an one be afraid! Be afraid, indeed!
